

SNAKES & LADDERS

Game Play and Rules of Snakes and Ladders

The game is played on a grid board consisting of one hundred squares in a ten by ten grid in most versions. The squares of the board are numbered. There are snakes and ladders on every board in varying numbers. Snakes send a player backwards on the board and ladders allow the player to climb higher on the playing board. Two players may occupy the same space at the same time.

The player to start can be decided however you wish. Youngest first is a common method of choosing or a roll of the dice.

Winning is achieved by reaching the 100th square first.
